

From: Brad Struble
Sent: January 18, 2011 1:17 AM
To: ~Legislative Committee on Bill C-32/Comite législatif chargé du Subject: Briefs for Bill C-32 from Brad Struble

Bill C-32 Legislative Committee,

Please consider the implementing the following changes to the Bill C32.....

1. Link the prohibition of circumvention to infringement
Either would work:
I) Add infringing purpose requirement to prohibition of circumvention
II) Add exception for circumvention for lawful purposes
2. Drop the ban on devices or technologies
3. Add provision to allow <sup>3</sup>qualified circumventers<sup>2</sup> to facilitate legal circumventions
4. Remove explicit anti-circumvention provisions in new exceptions
5. Drop the destruction requirement for <sup>3</sup>lessons<sup>2</sup> and inter-library loans and the lock requirement for <sup>3</sup>lessons<sup>2</sup> and inter-library loans
6. Add an impartial review process for establishing new circumvention rights
7. Generalize the encryption research exceptions to all research; drop the notice requirement
8. Remove the requirement not to <sup>3</sup>unduly impair<sup>2</sup> the technological protection measure from the Personal Information exception and the technological protection measure from the Persons with perceptual disabilities exception
9. Expand the interoperability exceptions to cover interoperability of all works with devices or technologies
10. Add a positive obligation to facilitate circumvention for legal purposes
11. Exclude access controls that are unrelated to preventing infringement
12. Add an exception for circumvention for personal use, for archival purposes and for purposes of protection of minors
13. Add an exception for filtering software
14. Add an exception for circumvention of obsolete or malfunctioning technological protection measures, for access to government or court documents and for works that are substantially in the public domain
15. Add a labelling requirement to disclose the use of technological protection measures on consumer goods

Thank You!

Brad Struble

?????????????????????????

Life will not be a pyramid with the apex sustained by the bottom, but an oceanic circle whose centre will be the individual.

Mahatma Gandhi