

Standing Committee on Finance (FINA)

Pre-budget consultations 2012

Jason Brinkman

Responses

1. Economic Recovery and Growth

Given the current climate of federal and global fiscal restraint, what specific federal measures do you feel are needed for a sustained economic recovery and enhanced economic growth in Canada?

I believe that we should be rebuilding our country to operate inside a sustainable model. Building strong sustainable resources should be our number one priority. This means supporting research and education to help guide us there. Economy is changing and if we are living in the stone age we will be left behind. The countries of the world are in a pubescent stage and will need mature economic leaders. We can be that leader. When we are young we do what we think is right. When we are old we do what we know is right. Lets focus on the sustainable future and a sustainable resource economy. Be the future.

2. Job Creation

As Canadian companies face pressures resulting from such factors as uncertainty about the U.S. economic recovery, a sovereign debt crisis in Europe, and competition from a number of developed and developing countries, what specific federal actions do you believe should be taken to promote job creation in Canada, including that which occurs as a result of enhanced internal and international trade?

If we can develop sustainable methods of living in our own country I believe that these would be our most valuable exports. We have the resources and scientific knowledge to parter with developing countries and help build profitable sustainable economies. We can develop sustainable solutions to fill the gaps other countries can fill medical care, food and shelter. We focus to much on the few quantifiable resources we have like oil and lumber (just isn't as renewable as it needs to be in a global economy). If we profited from outsourcing sustainable technology and products. Not only will Canada benefit from a more sustainable structure, the world will feel it too.

3. Demographic Change

What specific federal measures do you think should be implemented to help the country address the consequences of, and challenges associated with, the aging of the Canadian population and of skills shortages?

I believe that education is always a top priority. Making education easy and accessible for everyone. This only makes your country stronger. Why wouldn't you make education free and available in your country? If you have children you would want them to be as knowledgable as possible. Have the tools and the brains to succeed at life. Why should it be any different for your country? If you give them necessary skills there will be no shortages in qualified workers. The Canadian government needs to support those who do not have the means to support themselves. Providing necessary care for our aging citizens is also top priority, obviously. Having free education and more sustainable systems in place would solve many of the care issues.

4. Productivity

With labour market challenges arising in part as a result of the aging of Canada's population and an ongoing focus on the actions needed for competitiveness, what specific federal initiatives are needed in order to increase productivity in Canada?

As I mentioned before building a sustainable economy will create new jobs in a market with new demand. Providing proper education will help our country excel at this. Educated people are preferred for the labour market right? Well educate them. There is now reason we can't employ a few more people to build a few more schools and give everyone the tools. Lets be a leader in a sustainable world and profit from our technology. A fair playing field and more support for smaller business is important as well. Diversity and variety will create a stronger labour market. I think supporting the little guy is necessary and if the big guy fails maybe other companies will just arise from the ashes making way for change and advancement.

5. Other Challenges

With some Canadian individuals, businesses and communities facing particular challenges at this time, in your view, who is facing the most challenges, what are the challenges that are being faced and what specific federal actions are needed to address these challenges?

The biggest challenges for Canada will be rebuilding it's global image, providing it citizens with proper free education for everyone, refocusing and providing support for our environmentally friendly and sustainable business. Removing our dependance from oil, lumber, and other archaic commodities to providing education, tools, and human power to launch the world into a positive sustainable future. Lets move forward as a whole, taking the worlds challenges and needs into our consideration. This will benefit our country and provide for it's citizens.